

With Melancholia Lars Von Trier made a very intense movie about fear and depression. Von Trier found a way to translate these very troubled emotional difficulties, from which he struggles himself, through this incredible motion picture. This track is a tribute to Melancholia in all its intensity. It's a reflection and translation of these emotions of which nobody dares to speak. Now, emotional translation of anxiety and depression, does that ring any bell ? The video is compiled by

Niek Cornil

. Niek has a great way to translate the sound into image.